Agent's running note

08:40 - cust calling from landline. Says card payments overnight are not his. ID and call-centre verification completed. Card blocked during call. Customer asked not to use mobile banking again until the device and account access have been reviewed by the specialist team.

Cust replaced broken phone Tuesday evening and searched online for the FNB app. Clicked sponsored result around 18:40 and installed package that looked like FNB. Nobody called or messaged him and no link was sent to him. Logged in around 19:00. Says app behaved normally. Entered banking username, password and PIN. Later allowed accessibility / control permissions because app said they were needed for security and notifications.

Phone was idle and charging Wednesday evening. Cust did not approve purchases and did not see any alerts. Phone otherwise worked normally. At about 08:20 today he used web banking on his laptop to pay a supplier and saw the reduced balance.

Disputes: PRIMEGOODS*SA JHB R48,000 at 19:30; PRIMEGOODS*SA JHB R52,500 at 19:36; NEXAPAY*DIG ZA R35,000 at 19:45. Sees attempted R80,000 at 19:52 as declined and does not dispute it because it did not debit. Total disputed R135,500. Says never bought from either merchant. No other item disputed.

Cust calm and understands urgent review is required. No health, distress, communication-support, age-related or isolation concern raised. English preferred. Advised the card is blocked and a specialist will explain any further account-protection and access-reset steps. Asked to keep the phone powered off and retain it for possible examination; do not uninstall anything until investigator confirms evidence approach.
